CRAIG POTTON NEW ZEALAND

Craig Potton rose to prominence as a photographer in the late 1980s, with a distinct and original view of the landscape of Aotearoa. He was a photographer with little interest in a sentimentalised or romantic view of the land, but rather pursued a less compromising and more muscular vision that sought to convey this country's remarkable landscape in a real light.

Craig Potton has become one of New Zealand's most distinguished landscape photographers, famous for his moody, often dramatic images that signal a deeply-felt connection with the wild parts of New Zealand.

This book collects together many of his most celebrated images in one place. The images range from his celebrated aerial photography, especially that of the Southern Alps and Fiordland, and of the volcanoes of the Central North Island, his beautifully composed and complex forest interiors, his gentle seascapes, and also those from the rural parts of New Zealand.

NEW ZEALAND: EYE ON THE LANDSCAPE

The distinguishing feature of this book is that the images used will not be the work of one photographer, but rather a collection of the best images from a wide range of landscape photographers.

The inspiration for this concept has been the extraordinary work that is exhibited by members of the Photographic Society of New Zealand. The majority of photographs created by their members is hardly seen and never published. Treaty of Waitangi | Te Tiriti o Waitangi

Claudia Orange's writing on the Treaty of Waitangi has played a central role in national understanding of this foundational document. This fully revised and updated edition (previously entitled An Illustrated History of the Treaty of Waitangi) brings the Treaty's history to life with a richly informative narrative and a wonderful range of photographs, maps and illustrations.

The Treaty of Waitangi | Te Tiriti o Waitangi takes the narrative into the twenty-first century, with a new chapter recounting the Treaty history of the last ten years, covering major developments such as the Tuhoe settlement, territory 'personhood', and issues around intellectual property and language. Presented in full colour for the first time, the new edition also presents a fresh visual narrative, drawing on the range of images now emerging in work such as the He Tohu and Waitangi Museum exhibitions (in which Dr Orange was closely involved).

Claudia Orange is the Practice Leader Research at the Museum of New Zealand Te Papa Tongarewa, having previously headed the museum's History and Pacific Cultures section.

She was General Editor of the multi-volume, award-winning Dictionary of New Zealand Biography from 1990 to 2003. She was also Acting Chief Historian from 1997 to 2000 in the History Group of the Department of Internal Affairs, and then 2002-2003 was Senior Historian in Te Ara, the online Encyclopedia of New Zealand in the Ministry for Culture and Heritage.

She has produced several works on the Treaty of Waitangi – from the award-winning Treaty of Waitangi (1987) to An Illustrated History of the Treaty of Waitangi (2004). She has written widely on early New Zealand history and on twentieth century race relations, and was foundation chair of the National Oral History Association of New Zealand (NOHANZ).

Dr Claudia Orange was appointed the OBE in 1993, received the University of Auckland's Distinguished Alumni Award in 1997, and was awarded the honour of Distinguished Companion of the Order of New Zealand in 2009.

Landscape Photographs of New Zealand

Personal background stories and photographs accompany many images, whilst a special "Behind The Scenes" chapter illustrates what Peter endured to achieve their capture. This affords the reader a privileged insight into this remarkable portfolio, one which will be treasured for generations. Peter's passion for New Zealand is evident in his original portrayal of the land from Cape Reinga to Stewart Island, often returning to the same scene many times over several years, all in search of the perfect light. As Peter says, A degree of madness helps a lot! Many of the 230 colour photographs in this book are spectacular double page panoramas, carefully selected to represent the best of Peter's vision and his extraordinary life-long quest to capture this land at its finest.

NEW ZEALAND LANDSCAPES
NORTHLAND TO ANTARCTICA

Voted one of the top five places to visit in the world by Lonely Planet, the geographical diversity and startling beauty of New Zealand lures photographers and film makers as well as tourists. "If locations were awarded Oscars, New Zealand would scoop the lot," as a movie reviewer remarked.

This book is a photographic celebration of that diverse and very often impressive landscape. Grant Sheehan has recorded his own camera views from Northland to Stewart Island and beyond, to New Zealand's Antarctic territory and her islands in the Southern Ocean. From the road, from the air and at sea, the tranquillity and scope of open often remote spaces are captured. The scenery and wildlife shown here underlines why New Zealand is consistently on the global 'must-see' list.

And as an extra dimension, the images have been given a striking soundtrack by musician Rhian Sheehan. The CD is included on the facing page.

Includes Music CD, eight tracks, 40 minutes duration, written especially for the book by New Zealand composer Rhian Sheehan.

EYE IN THE SKY: A DRONE ABOVE NEW ZEALAND

Photographer and publisher Grant Sheehan has been captivated with aerial photography for many years. Drone photography is an obvious next step and he started exploring possibilities as soon as the camera technology caught up with the remote-controlled drone.

This book explores the country from the air — ranging from 10ft to 400ft — in a way that is both unique and compelling; from wide elevated vistas of landscapes and land forms, to close intimate portraits of buildings and textures that conventional aircraft would struggle to capture. The first of its kind in New Zealand, this book adds an extra dimension to the idea of the classic New Zealand photo book appealing to a wide range of tastes, from those interested in both aerial and drone photography, tourists, lovers of landscape and to those keen to see New Zealand in a new way.

Each photograph is accompanied by the height and GPS location of where it was taken.

Always Delicious: Favourite recipes from the New Zealand Listener

Lauraine Jacobs is one of New Zealand's leading food writers, best known for her work with Cuisine and for her long-running food column in the New Zealand Listener.

After seven years as the food columnist for NZ Listener, I have chosen my favourites from more than 700 recipes published over that period. Fresh, vibrant and simple, there are almost 100 recipes for all occasions that are easy to make and vital for any kitchen.

Always Delicious is a book I am very proud of, as the recipes are interspersed with Food Talk — thought provoking ideas and opinions about New Zealand food. Publishers Pottan and Burton have produced a truly beautiful book, with full page stunning photographs by Liz Clarkson, styled by Kate Arbuthnot.

I know that Listener readers keep their favourite recipes from the magazine each week so this collection highlights many of the most loved ideas, suited to a wide variety of occasions. Buttery braised fennel, Cheesy cauliflower and leek bread pudding, and Salmon and cucumber green curry are not-to-be-missed and worth having this book forever on your shelves. I firmly believe the modern cook is looking to make food with fresh, seasonal ingredients and that if it's simple to make, they will be easy to eat. And above all, every bite of every meal must be Always Delicious.

The book is divided into six sections: Sensational salads and vital vegetables, Things to savour, Something fishy, Meat matters, Winging it (chicken and duck recipes) and Sweet as... which has delectable desserts, cakes and sweet things. There's an emphasis on vegetable ideas as we all move to eating more healthily and every recipe has important headnotes with cooking tips and fascinating stories from the kitchen.

Most importantly, I hope these recipes will have you energised to get into the kitchen, be excited about cooking and enjoying really delicious food. – Lauraine Jacobs

BADGES

These are great to carry in your pocket for those unexpected moments when you require a small gift.

These are ideal to wear when welcoming or visiting people from a different country. We hear stories of how people have had to take off their badge and give it to people they are visiting – so it is a good idea to have some “tucked in your pocket” to give out.
